AUTOMATIC PHONE.

Progress Made With Local Scheme.

TELEPHONE CO. REVIEW.

Submitted Scheme Operative In Two Years?

Material progress had been made in regard to a new automatic telephone system for Hong Kong, it was reported at the annual meeting this morning of the Hong Kong Telephone Company, Ltd., and it was indicated that a definite scheme had been submitted and would probably be operative in two years' time.

The profit for the year was reported as $220,999.59 after having provided for considerable depreciation and for royalties in accordance with the terms of the franchise under which the Company operated.

There had been considerable extension during the year under review and the service to subscribers had been improved by a direct underground cable service instead of overhead lines.

Mr. J. Scott Harston presided over the meeting, supported by the Hon. Sir Shou-son Chow, the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall, Mr. R. G. Sheehan, Mr. D. H. Blake, Mr. T. G. Weall and Mr. C. G. S. Mackie (Directors), Mr. J. H. Taggart, Managing Director, Mr. J. P. Sherry, Manager, and Mr. W. J. Hawker, Mr. E. M. Raymond and Mr. D. T. Tolan (Shareholders). Shares to the number of 225,370 were represented.

Chairman's Speech.
The Chairman, after quoting the auditor's report, addressed the meeting as follows:—Referring to the accounts, you will observe that the profit for the year under review amounted to $220,999.59 as against $194,708.56 for the preceding year, and is arrived at after deducting $154,238.64 for depreciation; $29,011. for the payment to the Government in respect of royalties, in accordance with the terms of the franchise under which we operate; $5,527.38 for writing off part of the preliminary expenses; and $1,634.96 for writing off bad debts.

Depreciation is heavier this year by $23,136.59—in which relation shareholders will readily understand that the additions made to capital plant must necessarily result in an increased sum for depreciation in order to safeguard your investment.

Cost of Royalties.
As regards the royalties, you will observe that the payment for the year 1927 is $3,077 in excess of that for the previous year; and it is well to bear in mind that this becomes an ever increasing sum in proportion to the number of new connections made.

Bad debts, you will observe, have decreased by $4,051.28 and represent less than one half per cent. on the gross turnover. This satisfactory state of affairs is due principally to the introduction of the system of deposit accounts to which I referred when I addressed you at the last annual general meeting, and as I then prognosticated, has since in effect minimised to a great extent the risk of losses being sustained from this source.

Service Improvement.
During the year under review the improvement in the Telephone Service has not only been maintained, but has also been considerably extended—this being due to the reconstruction of a material portion of our outside plant, whereby service to subscribers is gradually being converted to direct underground cable circuits instead of the former overhead lines.

A considerable portion of this work remains to be done, and in order to effectually carry out extensive plant arrangements with a minimum of inconvenience to subscribers, a certain amount of delay must perforce occur, apart from which the process involves heavy capital expenditure. I think shareholders will agree, however, that the resulting improved service fully justifies the expense entailed by such schemes.

As a result of this programme, the number of complaints has been reduced to a low figure, notwithstanding that the number of subscribers lines has been increased during the year by 711 exchange lines and 446 extension lines.

BRITISH CRAFT.

Fired At By Troops On Yangtze.

ATTEMPT TO BOARD.

Consul-General's Request For Safe Passage.

Hankow, Yesterday.
British river craft have been fired at by Chinese soldiers on Middle Yangtze and forced to return.

The British Consul-General will request the Nationalist Garrison Commander at Hankow to accord these vessels safe passage in future.

There has been no change in the local situation.

A tug and lighter belonging to Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., Ltd., and one belonging to Messrs. Butterfield and Swire were proceeding to Changsha (a Hunan treaty port on the Siang River which runs from south to north and joins the Yangtze above Hankow). The vessels set out this morning but had to return later in the day.

25 Miles Up.
They reported having been fired on by troops from both banks of the river, some 25 miles above Hankow (which would be near Kinkow).

An attempt was also made by men in junks to board the craft. The effort was abortive and the boats turned back. The unit to which these troops belong has not been ascertained.—British Naval Wireless.

[Note: The part of the Yangtze concerned is in Hupeh province and is controlled by the Wu-Han Nationalists.]
that General Reserve stands at $75,000.00; therefore, if the appropriations recommended by the Board in respect of the year under review be adopted, this account will be in credit to the extent of $125,000.00.

On the assets side of the balance sheet, under general plant, you will find an addition of $155,905.89, the major portion of which figure is represented by plant of a permanent nature, being in respect of the matter to which I have just referred, namely, the expenditure on laying underground cables in substitution for overhead wires, a conversion which, under the terms of the Telephone Ordinance, must be carried out with reasonable expedition. In this respect you will not doubt be interested to know that 1,594.083 circuit miles of underground cable and 71,359 circuit miles of covered distribution cables were laid down during the year.

Automatic Plant Progress.
Another item calling for special comment is Automatic Plant (preliminary expenses) which, you will observe, now stands at $65,960.85; and I am pleased to report that very material progress has been made since the last meeting in regard to the question of a new telephone system for Hong Kong.

On your Directors' instructions, the Company's Manager proceeded to England in May, 1927, and in conjunction with our Consulting Engineers, Messrs. W. W. Cook & Partners, drew up specifications and invitations to tender for an automatic installation for Hong Kong. Tenders were duly called for by our London Agents (The Oriental Telephone & Electric Co., Ltd.) and are now in the hands of the Board, who, I may add, are very satisfied with the results obtained.

Definite Scheme Submitted.
Your Board are most anxious to modernise the Exchange Plant with a view to being in a position to supply a telephone service on the most up-to-date lines, and it is with pleasure, therefore, that I am in a position to state that a definite scheme has been submitted to the Government, whereby, subject to the Government's approval, it is hoped that the whole system will be converted to Automatic working in less than two years from date. As stated in my speech in April, 1927, the matter mainly resolves itself into a question of initial outlay, and the subscription rates to be charged in order to effect a return on investment in the manner contemplated by the Telephone Ordinance, which, as you are aware, automatically provides for decreased subscription rates when the return on investment reaches a predetermined figure.

General Reserve Credit.
Taking the liabilities side of the Balance Sheet, you will observe

During the year under review the improvement in the Telephone Service has not only been maintained, but has also been considerably extended—this being due to the reconstruction of a material portion of our outside plant, whereby service to subscribers is gradually being converted to direct underground cable circuits instead of the former overhead lines.

As a result of this programme, the number of complaints has been reduced to a low figure, notwithstanding that the number of subscribers lines has been increased during the year by 711 exchange lines and 446 extension lines.

LI CHAI-SUM.

Returning Before War Starts?

DRIVE ON SHANSI.

Ironside Now At Nationalist Front Lines.

There is just a possibility that Marshal Li Chai-sum may return to Canton to resume control of the administration before the Nationalist army opens an attack on the Northern defences along the Kiangsu-Shantung frontier.

Marshal Li, accompanied by General Chen Min-chu, has returned to Shanghai from Hangchow but the date of his departure has not been announced. It is from Canton that news has come that he intends, if possible, to leave before Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek gives the order for the offensive to begin against the North.

Shansi Positions Shelled.
War reports from the North contain little of importance. The "Kung Sheung Yat Po" understands that the Peking armies are attacking the Shansi Nationalists on three sectors of the Shansi-Chihli front. Other despatches indicate that the Peking forces are advancing slowly but making little impression upon their preliminary shelling of the Shansi positions.

Little appears to have been done on the Chihli-Honan front against the "Christian General," Feng Yu-hsiang.

Meanwhile, the Ironsides from Canton (who opposed Marshal Li Chai-sum) have reached the Nanking Nationalists' front lines in Kiangsu and are expected to be in action before long.

Wu-Han Government.
Hankow, Yesterday.
As the nominee of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek (the commander-in-chief of the Nanking Nationalist Government), General Li Tsung-jen has been accepted by the local Nationalist leaders in Wu-Han as head of the Political Council for Hupeh and Hunan provinces.—British Naval Wireless.

Canton and Waichow.
Uneasiness in Canton, following the startling bomb explosion in Honan (the south side of the river) has died down.

However, reports have reached Canton that Communists are trying to stir up trouble in Waichow, an important and strategic city on the East River, 60 miles east of Canton.

PLATINUM.
RECENT DISCOVERY IN SIERRA LEONE.
PROSPECTING RIGHTS.

London, Yesterday.
The Colonial Office states that the Government of Sierra Leone has received a considerable number of applications in connection with the discovery of platinum in that colony. Prospecting rights have been granted to all suitable applicants and the Government of the Colony hopes before long to be able to give its decision regarding grants of the exclusive prospecting licences, mining rights or mining leases.

The Sierra Leone Government considers, however, that it is desirable to announce that applications for exclusive prospecting licences have already been received in respect of practically the whole of area specially suggested by the Director of Geological Survey as being worthy of investigation.—British Wireless Service.

OFFICIAL ENQUIRY.
THE RECENT ATTACKS IN SOLOMON ISLANDS.
APPOINTMENT TRADE.

London, Yesterday.
The Colonial Secretary (Mr. Amery) has selected Lieut.-Colonel Sir H. C. Moorhouse as Commissioner to proceed to the British Solomon Islands Protectorate to enquire into and report upon the circumstances in which murderous attacks took place on government officials at Verakona (Guadalcanal) in February, 1927, and at Malaita in October, 1927.—British Wireless Service.

three Chinese Councillors, while six Chinese are added to the Municipal Committees. The Council will henceforth consist of five British members, three Chinese, two Japanese, and two American.

A noteworthy passage in the final reply to the Chinese Ratepayers' Association by the chairman, Mr. Stirling Fessenden, reads: "The Council quite appreciates the point that, with full co-operation from the Chinese, the proposed arrangement will lead to an increase in the number of Chinese members on the Council."

Former Hong Kong Resident.
Mr. Tsu-yee Pei (Pui Tso-yi in Cantonese) is well known in Hong Kong. He was manager of the Bank of China's office here for several years and was recently appointed a special juror; his name still being on the 1928 list. He was recently promoted to the Shanghai office. Mr. Pei is comparatively young and was educated abroad. He is very popular and is a shrewd and capable business man.

CHINESE ON COUNCIL.

Ex-Hong Kong Banker Elected.

NEW APPOINTMENTS.

Refut Of Shanghai Ratepayers' Meeting.

Shanghai, Yesterday.
At a meeting of representatives of sixty thousand Chinese ratepayers in the International Settlement of Shanghai, held at the Chinese Chamber of Commerce this afternoon, Mr. Tsu-yee-pe, Mr. Yuan Li-tung and Mr. Chao Chin-ching were elected to seats on the Shanghai Municipal Council; while six other Chinese were elected as members of the various committees of the Shanghai Municipal Council.

Mr. Tsu Yee-pe is manager of the Bank of China, Mr. Yuan Li-tung is general manager of the Ningpo-Shaoxing Steam Navigation Co., and Mr. Chao Chin-ching is managing director of the Town Syndicate and a member of several important commercial and educational institutions.—Reuter.

INCREASE IN FUTURE.
On April 4 it was reported that the Municipal Council and the Chinese Ratepayers' Association had reached a "modus vivendi" regarding Chinese representation on the Council, thus running a long outstanding Chinese grievance.

Under this arrangement, the Association forthwith appoints

A BARBER'S SHOP.
JAPANESE PARTIES AT LAW.

A dispute arising out of the sale of a Japanese hairdressing business was heard at the Summary Court this morning before Mr. Justice J. R. Wood.

Masako Hayashida, of 47, Praya East, Wanchai, a widow, sued Shinjiro Nanayawa, trading as the Yokohama Barbers Shop, of 19 Praya East, and Mrs. Fuji Nanayawa, otherwise Fuji Arima, trading as the Chidori, Eating House of 19 Peking-road, Kowloon for $800 alleged to be balance of purchase money due under an agreement for the sale by plaintiff to the defendants of plaintiff's business, known as the Hayashida Barber Shop, of 19 Praya East.

Mr. L. R. Andrewes was for plaintiff and Mr. M. K. Lo for the defendants who are man and wife. Mr. Andrewes said that he had received a letter from Mr. Lo indicating the defence and stating that the shop was bought by the first defendant, the husband, only and not by the second defendant.

"Wife Would Pay."
His Honour asked whether this meant that in the event of judgment being entered it would be against the husband only and Mr. Lo replied that the only person who appeared to have money was the wife. If judgment was given against the husband the wife would have to pay.

Mr. Andrewes said that plaintiff and her husband acquired the shop in 1924 and the business was carried on jointly until the husband's death in 1926. In order to purchase the house, the plaintiff had not sufficient money of her own so she borrowed $700 from the second defendant. The loan would appear as material to the present action. It was the plaintiff's case that the money was duly paid back but the note given by the plaintiff as security for the loan was never returned and plaintiff would call evidence to show that the second defendant was for all practical purposes a money lender and that it was quite a habit of hers on repayment of the loan to retain the promissory note by stating that she had lost it.

Business Sold.
On May 15, 1927, the plaintiff sold the business to both defendants, the sale price being $2,800. The first defendant gave her $1,000 and the second defendant $1,800. As the plaintiff was already indebted to the second defendant, the sale was eventually adjourned.

TO-DAY'S DOLLAR.
The clearing rate of the dollar on demand, to-day was 2/0 3/16.

BENGALI YOUTHS.

Trying to Overawe The Government.

FORMIDABLE CHARGE.

Encouraging Communist Propaganda.

Calcutta, To-day.
The trial has begun of 20 Bengali youths, who are charged with conspiracy to "deprive His Majesty of his sovereignty in India and overawe the Government of India."

Three of them are also charged with unlawful possession of arms and ammunition in pursuance of general conspiracy.

The Prosecutor stated that a cipher list was found at a boarding-house at Deoghar, where these three were arrested, containing the names of notorious revolutionary murderers, places and incidents connected with their crimes, which were used as passwords. It also contained 16 names of "victims," who were marked down for assassination.

The conspiracy was widespread. The most important document found was a leaflet describing the Articles of Association of a secret society "for the establishment of an Independent Federated States of India by organised armed revolution."

The members of this society were enjoined to engage in Bolshevik activities and such secret assembling of men, arms and funds, forcibly where necessary, and terrorism, and the establishment of Labour and Peasant Organisations to spread Communist revolutionary propaganda and encourage military training.—Reuter.

NAVAL VISITORS.

See Hong Kong In Ideal Settings.

WELCOME FOR JAPANESE.

To-night's Dinner Of Honour At Government House.

The Japanese naval visitors saw Hong Kong in ideal settings yesterday although the day was rather warm for sight-seeing. During the day some 3,000 officers and men, divided into numerous parties, visited various places of interest in Hong Kong, Kowloon and the New Territories.

In Kowloon, some detachments took train to Fanling whilst buses were reserved for other parties going to Castle Peak. In Hong Kong, detachments visited the Botanical Gardens, Peak, Repulse Bay, etc., whilst functions arranged in their honour included a cinema show at the Grand Theatre, a tiffin party given to the Commander-in-Chief by the Japanese community, an official reception at Government House and a dinner to Admiral Kato and some of the officers given by H.E. Major-General C. C. Luard.

Many officers were present at the tennis championship match between Honda and Akiyama and H. D. and S. A. Rumjahn.

The neat appearance of the Japanese sailors and their orderly behaviour created a very favourable impression. Each party was conducted by a British interpreter and the arrangements appeared to be carried through without a hitch.

To-day a tiffin party is being arranged by the Japanese Consul, Mr. Murakami, at which the attendance will be purely Japanese. This will be followed by a reception to the Japanese community at the Hong Kong Hotel, after which motor trips to points of interest have been arranged.

In the evening, a dinner will be given by H.E. the Governor in honour of Admiral Kato and his staff at Government House.

An afternoon cinema will take place at the Grand Theatre in Wanchai, for a number of the warrant officers and men, while various trips, on the same lines as those of yesterday, will be made to the chief points of interest on the Island and mainland.

HIS LITTLE JOKE.
MAGISTRATE ON RUNNING RECORDS.

In connection with the case against Stoker Gahagan, reported elsewhere, Mr. Macnamara, in his cross-examination of the Chinese driver of motor car No. 190 asked how long it took the witness to run from Lee Yuen-street to the No. 2 Police Station, and was told it took about four minutes.

Mr. Lindsell: A world's record. When told by Inspector Macdonald that the distance between the two points was inside half-a-mile, the Magistrate remarked: "Four minutes is not very fast time for half-a-mile, but its pretty fast for a chauffeur!"

fendant for various loans during her husband's illness to the amount of $900 it was arranged that this sum should be set off and that both defendants should give plaintiff a promissory note in respect of the $300 balance. Although the business appeared to have been sold to both defendants, the wife was, in fact, the one who directed the business, claimed Mr. Andrewes. She was a dominating kind of woman and plaintiff also appeared to have done just what she asked.

The return of the plaintiff to Japan and the arrangements she made with another party to collect the outstanding debt by defendants were detailed and it was stated that the second defendant wrote to the plaintiff objecting to the promissory note being "hawked about" among other people and asking, in view of the fact that they were known to each other for so long, that the note might be returned to second defendant's husband. Plaintiff wrote giving this authority and consequently she could produce no written evidence at all, although she could produce oral evidence. It was claimed, sufficient to prove her case, that the second defendant had been "hawked about" among other people and asking, in view of the fact that they were known to each other for so long, that the note might be returned to second defendant's husband. Plaintiff wrote giving this authority and consequently she could produce no written evidence at all, although she could produce oral evidence. FOREST FIRE.
YOUNG TREES DESTROYED AT ARS.

Metz, To-day.
During aerial bombing practice a bomb dropped on the forest at Ars and started a conflagration which extended for two miles. Over 100 acres of the finest young trees were destroyed despite the efforts of soldiers and firemen.—Reuter.

When he came back, he found the car swerving along on the wrong side of the road. As the driver watched the movements of the car, there came a terrific crash about four yards from the junction of Lee Yuen-street and the car was badly damaged.

Question of Damage.
Mr. Lindsell remarked that the question of damage to the car could not be considered, as Mr. Lo could not get more than $50 damage in the Court.

Mr. Lo replied that he was not applying for damage. There would be proceedings elsewhere in that connection. He mentioned that the actual damage to the car amounted to $1,000.

Proceeding, Mr. Lo said that after the crash, the four sailors walked away in pairs, going in different directions. The driver recognised the man who had been driving the car and followed him and his companion, until they came to an Indian constable who the driver asked to arrest the two sailors. The men bolted in the direction of the Monument at Happy Valley followed by the constable and the driver. They were eventually found hiding in a doorway in Tai Yuen-street and taken to the police station.

Driver's Evidence.
The driver of the car corroborated Mr. Lo's opening statement. He said he recognised the defendant as the man who wanted to drive the car, and when witness objected, defendant caught hold of him with both hands and shook him, whilst another sailor sitting behind pulled his hair. The defendant was also the man in charge of the wheel of the car at the time of the crash.

The case was adjourned until Saturday morning next.

STOKER "DRIVER"?

Charge Against Naval Man.

TRAFFIC OFFENCES.

Story Of Early Morning Driver In Wanchai.

Stoker J. Gahagan of H.M.S. "Hawkins" was this morning charged before Mr. R. E. Lindsell by the Police Traffic Department with two offences against local traffic regulations, as follows:—

(1) unlawfully acting as driver of public motor car No. 190 without an appropriate driver's licence on April 8, and—

(2) unlawfully attempting to drive public motor car No. 190 without an appropriate driver's licence on April 8.

Mr. Horace Lo, who represented the owner of the car, a new Essex, was about to outline the case against the defendant, when Mr. Lindsell interposed and said that he did not see how Mr. Lo could prosecute on behalf of the Traffic Department.

Mr. Lo then said that he was bringing a third charge of assault against the defendant, and on this charge he was prosecuting on behalf of the driver of the car (Tsang Yau-fat).

Mr. H. C. Macnamara, who appeared for the defence, pleaded not guilty to all three charges. The case was then proceeded with.

Four Naval Men.
Outlining the case, Mr. Lo said that the incident occurred in the early morning of April 8, between 1.25 and 1.45 a.m.

The complainant in the case was the driver of public motor car No. 190. At the time in question, he was driving the defendant and three other Naval men along Queen's-road East. When the car got near the Wanchai Post Office, about ten blocks from the Wanchai Police Station, the sailors wanted to drive the car. The driver objected and stopped the car at the occupants' order. The sailors then got out of the car, and one of them caught the driver by the throat and forced him out of the car. The driver thereupon went to No. 2 Police Station to make a report.

When he came back, he found the car swerving along on the wrong side of the road. As the driver watched the movements of the car, there came a terrific crash about four yards from the junction of Lee Yuen-street and the car was badly damaged.

Question of Damage.
Mr. Lindsell remarked that the question of damage to the car could not be considered, as Mr. Lo could not get more than $50 damage in the Court.

The case was adjourned until Saturday morning next.

CABARETS AND TEA DANCES.

YOUNG CHINA.

In an article on Shanghai the theme which at once suggests itself is its far-famed "night life"—a subject on which Shanghaiers are at present feeling rather sore, says "A Visitor from Malaya" in the "Straits Times." The reason is that, owing to the various wars in which China specialises, a number of newspaper correspondents have established themselves on the Shanghai front, and to add variety to their despatches have painted this same night life in lurid colours. There is a sameness about Chinese war-news, not to mention the ever-present risk of confusing the names of towns with the names of generals, and these night life pen pictures always make more interesting reading.

Thus the correspondents have let their typewriters run away with them, depicting Shanghai as a place which out-Paris Paris and makes the West End of London seem quaintly provincial. The impression conveyed is that the average Shanghai man never thinks of going to bed before 5 a.m. and deserts his wife in favour of fair ladies from Harbin. The truth is, of course, that the night life of Shanghai is just that of any large, cosmopolitan city, and the sensation-seeking correspondents are as wide of the mark as was the gentleman who described said Singapore as a "cesspool of iniquity."

Business Depressed.

Actually the cabaret business of Shanghai is going through a period of considerable depression. In most places there were many more professional dancing partners than visitors, and jazz bands blared their melodies to thinly-peopled floors. Very different was the scene of hotel tea dances where Shanghai residents betake themselves in large numbers and get remarkably good value for money. In return for the admission charge of one dollar—a cheaper dollar than the Singapore variety—they not only have the privilege of dancing on a magnificent floor to a first-rate band, but they are actually given a very substantial tea. It has been said that the one beverage which is not consumed at a Singapore tea dance is that which gives its name to the function.

Very striking to the Singapore visitor is the fact that considerably more than half the patrons of Shanghai hotel dances are Chinese. For that matter the same thing is true in the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong, and the change from the customary scene in our local hotels at once impresses the Singaporean. Chinese young men, very smart in their double-breasted coats and trousers of Oxford roominess, tread the latest measure with trim and dainty Chinese young ladies, and very skilfully do they do it. Over a thousand people are wont to gather at the Sunday afternoon dances at the Hotel Majestic, and tables are at a premium.

Like A Garrison Town.

Though the cables tell of troops being withdrawn, Shanghai has still very much the appearance of a garrison town. British soldiers and American Marines abound, and the people of Shanghai are very grateful for their presence. If the pseudo-politicians who, for their own ends, shout so loudly that it was unnecessary to despatch the Defence Force had taken the trouble to make a few inquiries on the spot, they would—always supposing that they are truthful—have had a different story to tell. "The Defence Force saved us," say the people of Shanghai of all classes, and it is easy to understand how very real was the danger of less than a year ago, when the Settlement and the French Concession might have been overrun by hordes of undisciplined Chinese troops.

Though conditions are better and the danger from Communistic elements is not so evident as it was, the need for protection still exists. There is always a feeling of uneasiness, that sense of dwelling in the neighbourhood of a volcano which may erupt at any moment. But it is realised that Britain cannot maintain a big force in Shanghai for all time, though troops will certainly be there for the next two or three years, and it is admitted that the Settlement must see to its own protection to the utmost extent possible.

For this reason the Municipal Council has embarked on a campaign of rigorous economy, and a searching eye is being turned on things which some people describe as luxuries. These include the fine Symphony Orchestra which the Council maintain, and which inevitably costs a very considerable sum. "The Orchestra

SILLY THREATS.

"YOU WILL BE DEAD IN TWO DAYS."

ATTEMPT TO TERRORISE.

Letters containing threats which it was alleged, had been sent to several witnesses, were produced at the London Sessions when Arthur Ernest Busby, 21, motor mechanic, was sentenced to twelve months imprisonment for stealing sixteen boxes of toffee, the property of his employers, the Silk Candy Company.

Mr. A. B. Lucy, prosecuting, said that since the police-court hearing a man who gave evidence against Busby had received an unsigned communication, which read, "Beware. If you make the same statements you did at Tower Bridge you will be dead in two days. Busby was under orders, and now we order you."

Another witness for the prosecution, said Mr. Lucy, had received a letter containing the words: "Today decides your fate. If A. Busby is convicted through you, your death will be terrible but slow."

It might be, added Mr. Lucy, looking up at the public gallery, that some of the persons responsible for the letters were present in court.

The chairman (Sir Robert Wallace, K.C.): I can only say that if any of the witnesses suffer, the persons concerned will receive sentences which they will not forget.

must not go," say the people who appreciate good music, but then quite a larger number of people are not musical.

The Trade Position.

As to trade, the impression conveyed is that things are much better, but there is a long way to go before they become what they once were. It remains a very hazardous business to send goods inland, for the gentle art of banditry and plunder as practised by various "war lords" is quite a profitable industry, and that staple government for which British politicians so constantly pray is still no more than a pious hope. Whether there will ever again be any sort of a "united china" is exceedingly doubtful. A separate North and South for all time appears to be much more likely, and many people do not hesitate to say that the British Government would have done well to have recognised the Nationalists.

But superficially at any rate Shanghai is a very busy and prosperous place. Huge blocks of flats continue to spring up, and are fully occupied as soon as they are ready. Property is at a premium, every available inch of space is occupied, and the streets are thronged with traffic. Singapore's so-called traffic problem is child's play compared with that of Shanghai, with its narrow streets, and it is amazing how order is maintained in thoroughfares where two trolley buses abreast completely fill the road. In comparison Singapore is a town of huge open spaces and broad boulevards. And Singapore is thrice blessed in the matter of its staple currency, which knows nothing of the mysteries of "large" money and "small" money, and an avalanche of copper coins as change out of a twenty-cent piece.

Still Shanghai is a most interesting city to visit. Elving would appear to be cheaper than in Singapore, though, as invariably happens, the salary of the man in the street is less than that of his Singapore confrere. A dollar is worth less than that of Malaya, but goes farther, and flats and lighting are reasonable, as Eastern prices go.

BLOOD TESTS.

VALUABLE DISCOVERIES
MADE DURING WAR.

DETECTION OF CRIME.

At the Royal Institute of Public Health Dr. G. Roche Lynch, Senior Medical Analyst to the Home Office, read a paper on "Some Problems in Medico-Legal Practice." Mr. Justice Travers Humphreys presided.

Dealing with the recent "amplification of the technique" in blood-stain examination through blood groups, Dr. Lynch said that this discovery of blood groups differing in various persons was made just before the war in the transfusion of blood to seriously wounded men.

It was then discovered that there were four different kinds of blood in human beings, and it was possible to find out the group to which an individual belonged by taking a test of his or her blood. An application of this discovery in medico-legal work occurred in the examination of blood stains.

It was a valuable test to prove the innocent innocent or the guilty guilty. Dr. Lynch thought the test was likely to prove even more valuable in the future. Even if a murderer or assailant refused to submit to a blood test you could still compare the blood stains on the clothing of the victim and on the clothing of the assailant.

LEPROSY CURE.

MANILA PHYSICIANS DOUBT
NEW PLAN.

Manila, April 6.

The Associated Press yesterday brought the news that a new treatment of leprosy had been discovered in South Africa consisting of deliberately maintaining a fever temperature in the patient for the purpose of "burning up" the bacilli.

Local medical authorities, when seen regarding the alleged new treatment yesterday, declared that while it might be worthy of further experimentation, they believed that the treatment lacked great scientific value.

A prominent official of the Philippine health service when seen yesterday on this subject expressed much doubt as to the efficacy of the alleged new treatment. He said that subjecting the patient to fever attacks may do more harm than good. The leprosy bacilli, according to him, live even in high temperature, and to exterminate them the temperature would have to be so high that even the patient himself would have to succumb.

Dr. Eloy V. Pineda, formerly a physician at the Cullion leper colony and now connected with the leprosy division of the San Lazaro Hospital, declared that the leprosy bacilli thrived in a temperature as high as 40 degrees. He added that in Cullion efforts were made to experiment with secondary infection to improve the treatment of leprosy but no positive results were accomplished. "From data I have in hand, the effectiveness of the new treatment, seems doubtful to me," Dr. Pineda said.

Dr. Paz L. Teopaco, another member of the San Lazaro leprosy staff, declared that the alleged new treatment will bring no results more effective than are being obtained with the use of chaulmoogra oil because a high temperature does not affect leprosy bacilli in advanced cases.

A Tientsin telegram to the Chinese papers says that a vessel belonging to Messrs. Butterfield & Swire, carrying 40,000 bags of flour, was sunk by a Japanese vessel in the Haiho a couple of days ago.

NOTED ECONOMIST.

JEREMIAH W. JENKS, FAMED INTERNATIONALIST.

VISITING MANILA.

Manila, April 5.

Jeremiah W. Jenks, internationally known political economist, will arrive in Manila on April 8 on board the "Empress of Canada." He will stay here for several days to study local conditions.

Professor Jenks is director of the division of Oriental Commerce and Politics in New York University, a position he has been holding since 1917. He is regarded as an expert on Far Eastern affairs, both politically and economically. Before joining the professorial staff of the New York University he was professor of political science of Cornell University, holding that position from 1891 to 1912. He has also been a professor on the same subject in other well-known colleges and universities in the United States.

Between 1899 and 1910 he was expert agent of the United States Industrial Commission on the investigation of trusts and industrial combinations in America and Europe, and at the same time he was consulting expert on the same subject of the department of labour. In 1901 he was appointed special commissioner by the war department to study the questions of currency, labour, internal taxation and police in the Oriental, and two years later was in charge of currency reforms in Mexico and China. From 1907 to 1910 he was member of the United States Immigration Commission, and in 1916 was one of the two neutral arbitrators to settle the dispute between the Switchmen's Union of North America and certain railway companies. He held various offices in economic societies in the United States and was the founder of the Far Eastern Bureau.

Professor Jenks is also an author of note, most of his works dealing on economics and economic problems.

ON CHINA.

ADDRESS IN LONDON BY SIR F. WHYTE.

BRITAIN'S PROBLEM.

A fairly well attended gathering of business men listened to an inspiring address on China at the School of Oriental Studies on March 6. The speaker was Sir Frederick Whyte, K.C.S.I., who was leader of the Delegation which represented Britain at the second Conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations at Honolulu in July last, and who subsequently, at the invitation of the Chinese delegates to this Conference, paid a visit to China.

Mr. L. N. Leefe, chairman of the China Association, was in the chair, and among those present were Sir Charles Addis, Sir James Stewart Lockhart, Sir Montagu Turner, Mr. H. D. C. Jones, Mr. H. G. Simms, Mr. Archibald Rose, C.I.E., Mr. Stanley H. Dodwell, Mr. H. G. Simms, Mr. J. A. Plummer, Mr. A. E. Angier and others, including a number of ladies.

Pointing out that it was a mistake to read the situation in China in terms of the past, Sir Frederick Whyte said democracy was too firmly rooted there for history to repeat itself. No one could see what would be the result of the working out of the idea in China of Government based on the consent of the people, but that the idea had taken root there was certain. What was now needed was consolidation and reunification. The revolutionary movement had proceeded so far as to have devoured some of its children, and was now beginning to teach some of those who remained. Speaking of the present situation, Sir Frederick said if it were possible to get co-operation between Feng, Yen, Canton, Hankow and Nanking, then he believed it would be possible for the Nationalists to carry Peking in a very short time, but he was afraid that the hope of that co-operation among people, many of whom only pay lip service to the principles of Sun Yat-sen and to the Kuomintang, was somewhat Utopian. Having referred at length to Russia's part in the revolution, he said that one lesson of it was the need the Chinese have for assistance if given in the right way.

The British problem was how to get over the immense obstacle of prejudice so as to be able to take the place of the Russians, but serve the Chinese in a different manner. The problem of 1928 was to get over the immense obstacle of prejudice created by past hostility in our relations with China. The primary interest that originally took us to China was economic. China was a market for our goods and a source of supply for raw materials, though some had formed excessive expectations of the country's undeveloped resources. The primary need in China to-day was the expenditure of money on productive purposes. We were a long way yet from the development of means by which foreign money could find its way into China under conditions which would give reasonable security, but China was well aware that the time was coming when she would not be able to maintain herself at all unless she could get money with reasonable prospect of success to the lender. There were £77,000,000 of British capital in China, £49,000,000 being in Government loans and the remainder in railways, and this took no account of the interests of the great banks and commercial houses established there. There were some who were inclined to think that the excessive manifestation of the Nationalist spirit was due to the missions and educational institutions, but it was to European influence, introduced by Europeans on their arrivals in China, and not to European institutions, that a great part of the chaos must be attributed. Turning to the Hankow agreement, the speaker said that although the Chen-O'Malley agreement was done in a hurry, nevertheless Hankow was not so badly off as many believed. There was more trade going on than the people knew of. This was partly due to the Chamberlain policy, and partly to the departure of the Russians, but mainly because there was someone on the spot who was able to guarantee security of life and property, namely the two British cruisers lying in the river. A real national policy was a very important element in our dealings with the Chinese. The new policy was not a policy of force—if it were he would have nothing to do with it—but he believed that the element of dealing face to face, the element of the ability to defend our own position, though not in any provocative way, was essential. In the course of evolution it was a policy that must be crowded out, but they could not immediately afford to abandon it. That policy had justified itself, and the unfortunate thing was that it was not adopted years ago. Sir Frederick instanced the negotiations regarding the Shanghai Budget of 1923, between the Chinese and the Municipal Council, as a triumph of the new order. The British Government, he added, rightly acknowledged that for the future the title upon which the foreign rights in China were founded was not valid, and that, therefore, the process of placing rights on a new foundation must be begun at the earliest possible moment.

In conclusion, Sir Frederick repeated his belief that the Chinese would accept assistance which must eventually be on a large scale. It was not likely, however, that they would get united action by a group of the Powers, but there was the League of Nations with all its machinery. When the Chinese understood that without invasion of sovereignty and their sense of patriotism they could employ the assistance of the League of Nations to put them on their feet once more, and when they understood the enormous change that had come over international relationship, they would be on the high road to permanent peace in their own country. (Applause.)

LOCAL SHIPPING.

TO-DAY'S REPORT AND DEPARTURES.

THIS MORNING'S RETURN.

The report at the Harbour Office, for cargo imported to the Colony in the time under review ending 9 a.m. this morning, shows a greater total to yesterday's amount, being well above the average. The figures obtained are 12,220 tons of general merchandise being imported by about 14 vessels. The arrival of vessels recorded total 17 vessels, of which the British claim 3; French and Dutch 1, Norwegian and Japanese 2, and the Chinese 6. Of the 12,220 tons, the British carried 723 tons, while the Chinese with 6 vessels shipped 1,775 tons mostly from up-river ports.

Cargo being transported to ports beyond, amounts to a total far below the average, that of 7,247 tons. Six vessels in all departed, but only 6 vessels are carrying the cargo, of which the British claim 238 tons.

The Japanese again register the best figures for both cargo imported and shipped through, the greatest figures recorded for the former was shown by the s.s. "Nissei Maru" from Bangkok, Koksichang—Messrs. Sato & Co.—4,101 tons general goods; while that for the latter was contributed by the s.s. "Morioke Maru" from Calcutta, Singapore, Messrs. O.S.K.—4,909 tons general merchandise.

Passengers arrived in the Colony by the above steamers totals 2,908 persons, which includes 2,609 Asiatic deck, 154 Asiatic cabin, 90 European cabin, and 55 European deck.

GASSED.

TRAGEDY ON A BRITISH TANKER.

UNABLE TO RAISE ALARM.

Further information has recently reached the Imperial Merchant Service Guild regarding the tragic circumstances in which their member, Mr. W. R. Jones, together with a seaman, lost their lives in the oil tanker "Daghestan" at Balikpapan.

This is an extract from the "Singapore Free Press" of January 18, which states that the tragedy occurred during the vessel's stay in port at Balikpapan on January 7, and how both men met their deaths is uncertain. A continuous watch is kept whilst the vessel is in port, and the second officer, Mr. W. R. Jones, was in charge of the watch from 12 midnight until 4 a.m. with a seaman, J. Thompson. Their duties consisted of inspecting the benzine tanks from time to time, and opening and closing the valves in the tanks. The seaman had to attend to this duty, and the master's standing orders were that he must be accompanied during his inspection by the officer of the watch.

List to Starboard.
What actually happened is not known, but at half-past three in the morning the shore loading superintendent observed that the vessel had a list to starboard and informed the master, Captain W. Jackson, who called for the officer of the watch, and stopped the filling of the starboard tank. As the officer could not be found anywhere, a thorough search of the vessel was made, and the two men were eventually discovered near one of the starboard benzine tanks, dead.

It is assumed that the seaman, in opening one of the valves of the tank near which the men were found, was severely gassed and fell down unconscious. On seeing this, it is supposed, the second officer went to his assistance and was himself gassed. The officers' living quarters are near by, but other officers did not hear any noise to suggest that anything was amiss, whilst dockside workers alongside the vessel were also unaware that anything of an untoward nature had happened.

The captain is at a loss to explain why the officer did not use the gas masks and rescue apparatus carried on board the ship in compliance with the Board of Trade regulations, or call some of the crew. Unfortunately this was not done, and as there were no other members of the crew in sight at the time of the tragedy, the men were not discovered until too late. Immediately on being taken into the fresh air artificial respiration was resorted to and continued until a doctor, hurriedly summoned, had pronounced life extinct.

Dutch Kindness.
The funeral of the two unfortunate men took place at five o'clock the same afternoon, at Balikpapan, and a large assembly was present, including about 50 officers from various Dutch vessels in the harbour. The many kindnesses shown by the Dutch authorities and the populace of Balikpapan were very greatly appreciated by the crew, as also were the number of wreaths received from the Dutch residents at the port.

Second Officer Jones has had considerable experience of oil tankers, and joined the "Daghestan" in May last year.
An inquiry into the tragedy will probably be held later.

Second Officer Jones resided at Salisbury-street, South Shields, and Seaman Thompson at the Police Station, Wissett, Halesworth.

WARSHIPS IN PORT.

The following warships and auxiliaries were in harbour this morning:—

North Wall Basin, Verity, Wishart and Bruce; South Wall Basin, Flower and Somme; East Wall, Moth; North Arm, Titania and Subs; West Wall Dock, Hawkins; In Dock, Post Chaucer and Belgol; Kowloon Dock, Hermes; Buoy 1, Fusso (Japanese); Buoy 2, 4 Japanese Destroyers; Buoy 3, Japanese destroyers; Buoy 4, 4 Japanese destroyers; Buoy 5, Concord; Buoy 6, Japanese destroyers; Buoy 7, 4 Japanese destroyers; Buoy 8, Petersfield; Buoy 9, Herald; Buoy 11, Witherington; Buoy 12, Iroquois; Buoy 13, Marazion; Buoy 18, Ruthenia; Buoy 19, Serapis; Buoy 20, Foxglove; Buoy 23, Sirdar; Buoy 25, Khark; Buoy 27, Seamew; Buoy A3, Matsui (Japanese), Kowloon Anchorage, Franco and Belgol; A.16 Japanese Auxiliary Tsurumi; A.5 Japanese Nagato; Other foreign men-o'-war, U.S.S. Pampana; French Argus; Portuguese, Pero de Alonquer and Patria; Japanese, Nagato, Matsui and Fusso, also Tenryu, Tsurumi and 16 destroyers.

While raising the anchor of the vessel "Wheatblade" in Ramsey Bay, Isle of Man, William Marsh, a boatswain, was caught by his jacket in the windlass and killed.

THE WILES OF DIPLOMACY.

It has been said, though we will not vouch for the truth of the assertion, that Britain's supremacy in India is maintained by reason of the religious and other factional differences that exist among the people that go to make up the inhabitants of that land. The suggestion, not a very creditable one, behind the statement is that whilst these inter-racial differences are kept at fever heat, even encouraged, our rule in India will suffer no material or effective opposition. And this attitude of mind which is credited to Britain may, without any undue stretch of the imagination, be likewise credited to some of the war-lords and regional commanders that flourish in China to-day. It has often been said that the cause of the failure of foreigners in China is the fact that, nation and nation, they do not co-operate, that each seems afraid of his neighbour, that every one is self-seeking and guides its policy in accordance with what may be obtained from China, taking no heed of the rights, requirements or privileges of other foreigners.

In this statement, as we all know, there is some truth, a lot of truth. But the point we are attempting to make is that the foreigners themselves are not entirely to blame. There cannot be co-operation if the Chinese will not allow co-operation. Take, for instance, the matter of the Nanking Rape. America has effected a settlement with the Nationalist Government, and the terms of the settlement, we know now, are not so one-sided as they were expected to have been, particularly in view of the failure of Sir Miles Lampson. Britain, critics have it, would have accepted a similar settlement. This, as we have before inferred, we doubt; but was Britain offered a similar settlement? The evidence we have at hand suggests that such was not the case, that, in fact, the Nationalists have accepted from America less than they were prepared to accept from Britain, and perhaps less than they were prepared to accept from Japan. This does not necessarily mean that we asked of the Nationalists more than the United States asked.

In support of our suggestion we have the cables that were issued at the time of the negotiations between Sir Miles Lampson and General Huang Fu, the Nationalist Minister of Foreign Affairs. Reuter's Agency reported from Shanghai on March 25 that the points on which the negotiations broke down were the Chinese demands for expressions of regret for shelling Socony Hill and the revision of the so-called unequal treaties. If this is true, it is obvious that the terms of a settlement with Britain were entirely different from the terms of settlement with America. As the Notes that passed between Mr. Macmurray and General Huang Fu show, these points were raised as a kind of after-thought; and it is also shown that America refused, as Britain of course refused, to agree to these specific demands. Nevertheless there has been a Nanking Patch with the United States whilst the British negotiations have broken down completely. Which points to a degree of truth in our surmise that it is suiting the Nationalist book to play one foreign nation against another, for that is what it amounts to.

Our Japanese Visitors.

The visit to Hong Kong of so large and important a section of the Japanese Fleet is a matter that is meeting with general satisfaction. The battleships, cruiser and destroyers present a fine spectacle even here where we are accustomed to a splendid array of warships. And it must be a long time since our harbour was visited by so many foreign naval officers and blue-jackets as on the present occasion for our visitors from Nippon number the substantial total of 6,000. They are very welcome; for though the Japanese are, comparatively speaking, our neighbours we seldom have an opportunity of welcoming so large an influx into our midst. It is only by actual contact with one another that various peoples learn to know one another, and it is to be hoped, appreciate one another all the more readily for such a meeting. On the present occasion, as a man-ing such an excellent representation of the Japanese Navy among us, quite an exhaustive programme of events, official and unofficial, has been prepared, which we feel sure will afford much pleasure to all who participate in them. One cannot but note—and Britons note with particular pleasure—that the Japanese Navy is very largely modelled on the British Navy, and we understand that the regulations prevailing throughout the Navy of Dai Nippon very closely resemble those of Great Britain. Such a fact adds to the pleasure that is felt in Hong Kong in welcoming the Japanese officers and blue-jackets for, in such a matter as in others, imitation is undoubtedly the sincerest form of flattery. But we are well aware that the Japanese in modelling their Navy upon ours had much more serious intentions than merely to imitate or to flatter for, being the able and acute people they are, they realise that they could not do better than build their comparatively young Navy upon ours, which is ripe in experience. As we shall have much pleasure in having so fine a body of sailormen with us during the next few days, we trust that the visit will be equally agreeable to our Japanese friends.

CHINESE FACULTY.

HONG KONG UNIVERSITY NEED.

CHINESE MERCHANTS HELP.

In order to permit of the continuance of the Chinese Faculty of the Hong Kong University to cover a course of four years study a considerable sum in addition to the $40,000 collected from Chinese friends in the Straits Settlements by Professor Lai Che-hai has been found necessary.

With a view to devising ways and means of raising this sum, a meeting of Chinese merchants was called at the Chinese Chamber of Commerce yesterday by Sir Shou-son Chow and the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall.

The meeting decided to try to raise a sum in the neighbourhood of $1,000,000. If the effort was successful, about $60,000 would be assigned to the erection of a building in the University grounds for the Chinese Faculty.

There were forty-one Chinese merchants and other prominent Chinese citizens present at the meeting and these were formed into a Committee to superintend the raising of the money.

MISS LINWOOD.

HIGH PRESTIGE OF NEEDLEWORK.

THE RAGE OF LONDON.

The life-work of Mary Linwood was the making of needlework copies of English and Italian paintings. These copies were of the same size as the originals, and were in solid embroidery. Miss Linwood, who was a "gentlewoman of some fortune," was born in 1765, and lived at Leicester where her mother kept a school for young ladies. Upon her mother's death Mary succeeded to the school and conducted it in addition to many other occupations. She also had a practical knowledge of music, being the composer of many published songs and an oratorio.

She began doing her needlework pictures when she was thirteen years old, and by the time she was twenty had a large number standing to her credit. Every facility was given her for copying the works of the greatest artists, proof in itself that her work was highly esteemed. The Royal Academy refused permission for her work to be hung, on the ground that under their charter needlework was excluded.

Artist to the Court. In 1783 she visited the court of Russia, and was cordially received by Catherine the Great. In 1785 her pictures were shown "by command" to King George III and Queen Charlotte. After Royalty had given its sanction she opened a public exhibition of her work in 1787 at the Pantheon, a large number of her pictures being shown. At this time she was thirty-two years old and besides keeping in her exhibition—running she continued to embroider incessantly. For sixty years her work was the under any standard classification of fashionable London. Fox and Byron, Horace Walpole, the Duchess of Devonshire, the Prince Regent, Beau Brummell, were all among her patrons.

A Sixty-Year Show. Her method of working was to stretch a large piece of lacy cloth, a sort of linen weave, on a frame, and to sketch in her subject. Then, with wools dyed under her

HONGKEW FRACAS.

JAPANESE MARINES IN SERIOUS TROUBLE.

COOLIE ALLEGED KILLED.

An unfortunate incident took place last week-end in the Hongkew district, when one of two Japanese Marines, or possibly both, is alleged to have stabbed a ricksha coolie, who later died from the effects of his wounds. There was an altercation over the amount to be paid for the ride. Insp. J. W. Prince hurried to the scene and upon the arrival of the Japanese patrol the Marines were arrested by them.

At the Public Mortuary, Judge Koh and Deputy Whitmore presiding, Det.-Insp. Prince said that when he began his investigations he found one of the Japanese in a restaurant sitting on a blood-stained stool. He was drinking beer. The other apparently was trying to sleep in the corner. The latter had a blood-stained bandage on one hand and some fresh blood on the flesh. One of the Chinese servants in the restaurant told Mr. Prince that he saw a Marine washing a blood-stained dagger under a faucet, while another had seen one of them hiding a dagger. This weapon Mr. Prince found behind some rice boxes, says the "N. C. Daily News."

The hearing was adjourned. The comment of the three Japanese papers is of a similar nature, they intimating that the coolie was killed in self-defence, although "it must be considered that the Marines used excessive means to defend themselves." The Japanese are said to have left the Ikee Restaurant, at the corner of Woosung-road and Yalu-road, engaged rickshas to convey them to the No. 2 Kinokuni Restaurant in Yuhang-road. The men are said to have paid the coolies six coppers each, and then to have given the coolies another 10 coppers, but the latter insisted on more.

Hearing the noise a crowd gathered, the papers add, which included several apprentices from a foundry. One blew a police whistle and is stated to have handed the ricksha coolie a chisel. The paper concludes, "The Marines were helpless unless certain measures of self-defence were adopted... whilst threatening the coolie with the knife, the latter was stabbed."

Ricksha Coolies' Protest. The following protest was issued in connection with the affair by the Shanghai Ricksha Coolies' Association in a letter addressed to the District Kuomintang:

"On the night of the 30th (of March) Japanese sailors engaged public ricksha number 7390 and, without provocation, assaulted and murdered a Chinese ricksha coolie. Nominally, a quarrel arose over the amount of fare paid. Upon hearing of this matter, the Association immediately called a meeting to discuss it, and it was decided to demand that the offenders should be brought to justice."

"Japanese in China have always used high-handed methods and now they have not even stopped at murder. They want to insult us and never lose an opportunity to do so. Their reason is that they are strong and we are weak, and that we do not possess strength enough to oppose them."

"This Association has been formed for the protection of ricksha coolies and labourers generally. Now one of our Chinese ricksha coolies has been ruthlessly murdered, it devolves upon us to do something to protect his interests."

"We, therefore, have to ask you to lodge the following demands:—

1. That the offender should be severely punished;
2. That indemnity should be paid;
3. That the Japanese authorities shall give a definite assurance that there shall be no similar occurrences in future; and
4. That the Japanese authorities should publicly apologise and so uphold China's honour."

filled in her canvas, stitching in any direction that served her purpose. Her stitches do not come under any standard classification of long and short stitches; but with them she was able to obtain new shadings. In fact, she painted with her needle. She copied five paintings by Sir Joshua Reynolds, and several by Gainsborough, Opie, Stubbs, and Morland, in addition to large numbers of copies of the great Italians, Raphael, Guido, Carlo Dolce, and Martini. Besides many whose names are less

POLICE RESERVE.

INSPECTION BY THE GOVERNOR.

"COMMENDS."

The following orders have been issued by the Hon. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe, C.M.G., Captain Superintendent of Police.

Governor's Inspection.

His Excellency the Governor will inspect the Hong Kong Police Reserve in conjunction with the Hong Kong Police Force and the Hong Kong Fire Brigade on Tuesday, April 17, on the Murray Parade Ground. All members of the Police Reserve are requested to make an endeavour to be present, and those attending will fall in on the Central Police Station Compound at 3.30 p.m. prompt. Dress: Blue uniform with Cap and White cover, and Belt (no truncheon).

Practice Parade.

Members of the Chinese, Indian, and Flying Squad Companies (Sharpshooters' Company—optional) will attend a practice parade on Wednesday, April 11, Fall in at Central Police Station at 3.30 p.m. sharp. Dress: as above.

Chinese Company.

Strength.—Constable R.57 Wong Man-ying has been taken on the strength of the Chinese Company as from March 12.

Flying Squad.

There will be no instructional patrol on Thursday, April 12 nor on Thursday, April 19.

Commended Service Badge.

The Hon. C.S.P. has been pleased to grant Commended Service Badges to the following members of the Hong Kong Police Reserve:—

L.S.R.18 Hwang Hong Yeh.—A very hard working and zealous Reservist. Highly commended by the C.S.P. for assisting the Regular Police in arrest of pickpocket on August 27, 1927. Commended by the C.S.P. for prompt and correct action in searching and arresting a Chinese found to be carrying seditious literature on November 29, 1927.

Constable R.14 Harry Loo.—Secured information revealing a case of murder at Castle Peak on May 19, 1927, on this information being given to Mr. King, D.C.I., a man was arrested on a charge of murdering his wife. This Constable rendered great assistance in the enquiries and in searching for the body of the murdered woman. The accused was however acquitted at the Supreme Court owing to insufficiency of evidence. Arrested a man for larceny of cloth at Alexandra Buildings on January 12, 1928, most of the stolen goods recovered. Defendant sentenced to four weeks' hard labour. Arrested a pickpocket outside of Supreme Court on February 1, 1928, subsequently found to be a returned banished. Accused sentenced to 6 months with hard labour.

L.S.R.15 Ow-Yeung Kin Heng.—Highly commended by the C.S.P. for zeal and skill in the investigation of a case "Conspiracy to defraud" in November 1927.

Constable R.55 T. C. Woo.—Commended by the C.S.P. for prompt assistance in the arrest of a thief on November 18, 1927. Commended by C.S.P. for valuable assistance given to the Regular Police in the recovery of stolen goods on February 21, 1928.

Constable R.8 Tso Tsun On.—Highly commended by C.S.P. for prompt action in securing arrest of two men charged with attempted larceny of silk on September 27, 1927.

Constable R.29 Tsui Tong.—This constable was one of those who assisted the D.C.I. in raiding the Seamen's Union in May 1927.

Constable R.215 Fazal Mohamed.—Highly commended by C.S.P. for jumping into the harbour on July 24, 1927, and rescuing a Chinese woman from drowning.

Cr. Sergt. R.302 Harry Kong and Constable R.309 Robert Young.—Commended by C.S.P. for assisting the Regular Police in arrest of an armed man and, it is owing to their initiative and example that the Flying Squad has reached its present state of efficiency.

Cr. Sergt. R.383 E. C. Randall.—Commended by C.S.P. for the prompt assistance rendered to the Regular Police on October 4, 1927, by conveying to hospital in his side-car a seriously injured workman thus averting any delay in securing medical attention. Commended by C.S.P. for his promptness in responding to an emergency call in December 1927.

(Sgd.) W. KENT, A.S.P.

Adjutant.

Hong Kong, April 10, 1928.

AUTOMATIC PHONE.

Local Rates.
In this connection it should be remembered that the Telephone Committee of the Hong Kong General Chamber of Commerce in their Report of August, 1922, suggested a rate of $120.00 per exchange line for the year 1926, and, moreover, in fixing such rates the payment of a royalty to Government of $4.00 per exchange line was not contemplated. I would call your attention to the fact that this Company has not hitherto applied for the higher rates recommended, although the telephone service has, in the meantime, been very considerably improved.

Allocation of Profits.
I now formally propose that the Report of the Directors and the Accounts for the Financial Year ending December 31, 1927, as presented, be adopted, and that the following Appropriations recommended by the Directors be confirmed:—

Payment of a Final Dividend of 3 per cent. making 8 per cent. for the year $36,130.00
Transfer to General Reserve 50,000.00
Bonus to European Staff 8,199.98
Bonus to Operators 4,334.00
To carry forward to next account 7,015.47 and I shall be obliged if a Shareholder will kindly second such proposal, whereupon questions as to the Report and Accounts may be raised.

Other Business.
Mr. C. G. S. Mackie seconded the adoption of the reports and accounts and confirmation of appropriations.—Carried.

On the proposition of Mr. Raymond seconded by Mr. Tolan, Mr. D. H. Blake's appointment to the Board to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. B. Lander Lewis, was confirmed.

On the proposition of Mr. Tolan seconded by Mr. Hawker, the appointments of Mr. T. G. Weall and Mr. C. G. S. Mackie as Directors (nominees of the Oriental Telephone and Electric Company) were confirmed.

The re-election of Mr. J. Scott Harston and the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kottewall as Directors was proposed by Mr. Tolan, seconded by Mr. Raymond and carried.

Messrs. Lowe Bingham and Matthews were re-elected auditors for the ensuing year at the same remuneration as hitherto, on the proposition of Mr. Hawker seconded by Mr. Raymond.

This concluded the business of the meeting and the Chairman announced that dividend warrants were ready and could be had on application at the Company's offices.

SUSPICIOUS CASE.

OPIUM IN AN INDIAN'S BOX.

Teja Singh, a Sikh Sergeant of Indian Guards employed on board the s.s. "Kochow," was yesterday afternoon charged before Mr. R. E. Lindsell with the unlawful possession in his box on board the ship of eight tins of prepared illicit opium. He pleaded that the drug was "blanted" on him. Asked to give a reason why others should seek to get him into trouble, the defendant said that he had previously had occasion to report two other Guards for drunkenness, and suggested that they might be responsible. The defendant also claimed that the padlock found on his box at the time the opium was discovered, was a new one, and not the lock he had used. The Magistrate decided to give the defendant the benefit of the doubt and discharged him. This was because another Guard on the ship had given information which led to the defendant's box being searched, and Mr. Lindsell said that this in itself made the case a suspicious one.

OPIUM FINDS.

TWO WATERFRONT HAULS.

Yesterday afternoon, Revenue Officers searched a black suitcase belonging to a Chinese passenger coming off the s.s. "Kinehan" and found 5½ tins of prepared non-Government opium hidden in the false bottom of the baggage. The owner and two coolies who were carrying the baggage were arrested. This morning they were charged before Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy with the unlawful possession of the illicit drug. The passenger admitted all responsibility and was fined $4,000 or eight months' jail. The two coolies were discharged.

Two other Chinese who were arrested on the waterfront with fairly large quantities of opium in their possession were also charged. One man was fined $3,000 or six months, and the other $1,500 or three months' hard labour.

$1,000 DONATION.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF CHINESE.

MR. KWOK SIU-LAU.

In addition to donating $50,000 to the University, Mr. Kwok Siu-lau, J.P., a retired comprador of the Banque de l'Indo-Chine, has given $1,000 to the University School of Chinese.

"Commendable Object."

Mr. Kwok's letter reads as follows:—

"H.E. the Chancellor of the University of Hong Kong, Government House, Hong Kong.

"Your Excellency—I understand that Your Excellency is now hoping that money may be raised for the establishment of a Chinese School in the University of Hong Kong.

"This is an object that appeals strongly to me. I have recently contributed $50,000 to the University to be devoted to such purposes connected therewith as Your Excellency may think best. The Vice-Chancellor has informed me that Your Excellency has decided to put the $50,000 aside to accumulate, with its interests with a view to the subsequent establishment of a Chair of Biology.

"Your Excellency's decision in this matter meets with my entire approval, but I feel that I must make a small additional contribution of $1,000 towards the proposed University School of Chinese. Accordingly, I enclose a cheque for $1,000 and in the sincere hope that the money which is needed for the commendable object now in view will be forthcoming.

"I beg to subscribe myself, Your Excellency's obedient servant, (Sd.) Kwok Siu-lau.

After All—

To which H.E. the Governor (as Chancellor of the University) replied:—

Hong Kong, April 11.

"Mr. Kwok Siu-lau, 49, Robinson-road.

"Dear Mr. Kwok Siu-lau.—Very many thanks for your letter of the 10th April. I am glad to see that you approve of the decision to set aside your generous contribution of $50,000 to accumulate at compound interest in order to provide for the future establishment of a Chair of Biology at the Hong Kong University.

"It is also a great pleasure to me to see that you are in full sympathy with the appeal now being made for funds in order to establish permanently a Chinese School in the University of Hong Kong. I am grateful to you for the cheque of $1,000 which you enclose as a contribution to that fund and I share your hope that the money which is needed for this commendable object will speedily be forthcoming. After all, if a thousand firms or individuals in this Colony followed your good example, the full sum necessary for establishing and endowing such a School would be obtained.

"I am, Yours sincerely, (Sd.) C. Clementi.

FALSE PRETENCES.

EX-QUEEN'S COLLEGE CLERK CONVICTED.

"OVERLOOKED" OFFENCES.

Pau Tat-shing, who was on February 15 last sentenced, by Major C. Willson, to three months' hard labour for obtaining money by false pretences, whilst in the employ of the Director of Education, as a clerk at Queen's College, was again before the Court this morning.

Detective Sergeant Carey preferred two other charges against the prisoner as follows:—

Obtaining $85 by false pretences on August 11, 1926, and obtaining $150 by false pretences on September 30, 1926. There were alternative charges of falsifying accounts in relation to the two sums of money.

The Sergeant told the Magistrate that the present frauds were discovered since the prisoner was sentenced for offences committed in 1927.

The accused, in admitting the charges, said that when he was previously charged he had asked the defending solicitor, Mr. Leo d'Almada, to mention other offences not specified, but somehow this was overlooked. In the circumstances he asked the Magistrate to treat him leniently on this occasion.

Major Willson said that the fact that the prisoner did mention the earlier offences to his solicitor did not make any difference, as if those offences had been made known to the Court at the previous hearing he would have passed a heavier sentence.

The prisoner was ordered to serve additional terms of one month's hard labour on each of the two new charges.

The alternative counts were dropped.

OBITUARY.

DISTINGUISHED LONDON JOURNALIST PASSES AWAY.

E. R. THOMPSON.

London, To-day.

The death has occurred of Mr. E. R. Thompson.—Reuter.

Mr. Edward Raymond Thompson, Chief Editor of the "Evening Standard" died suddenly to-day, says a British Wireless message of yesterday's date. Under the pen name of E. T. Raymond, he wrote many penetrating political portraits. His first book was, "Uncensored Celebrities," in which and in succeeding volumes he presented a large group of political figures of the last 80 years. The best of his books is considered to be his biography of Disraeli. He was also the author of "Portraits of the Nineties."

Quite recently Messrs. Benn published a new volume by E. T. Raymond, entitled "Portraits of the New Century," which may be regarded as a companion volume to his "Portraits of the Nineties."

Mr. Thompson was a journalist of wide experience and a writer clear-headed and incisive. He was at one time associated with the "Star," the "Mirror," the old "Standard," and had also been editor of "The Outlook."

During the first two years of the century he edited "The Japan Gazette" at Yokohama. For some time past Mr. Thompson had occupied the editorial chair of the "Evening Standard," London.

RUBBER POLICY.

DIVERGENT VIEWS OF STRAITS GROWERS.

RESTRICTION EFFECT.

Singapore, Yesterday.

There are divergent views as to what policy rubber growers should adopt in consequence of the impending abolition of restriction. Some point out the danger of tapping all out and piling up a stock which will flood the market when restriction ceases. Other authorities believe that estates should mark time in expectation of the industry reorganising itself and that some scheme will be evolved which will put the market on a firm ground, and bring back prices to a remunerative level.—Reuter.

STRANGE AFFAIR.

LEAGUE REPRESENTATIVE SHOT.

BULLET EXTRACTED.

Constantinople, Yesterday.

Herr Schiemmer, the Representative of the League of Nations and Director of the local branch of the International Labour Office, has been admitted to hospital suffering from a bullet wound. It is not known how it was inflicted.

The bullet has been extracted, and the patient is said to be out of danger. The police are making inquiries.—Reuter.

TALKING MACHINES.

FUSION RUMOURS REACT ON EXCHANGES.

London, To-day.

There is considerable excitement in gramophone shares consequent upon persistent rumours of the fusion of the American Victor Talking Machine Company with the British Columbia Gramophone and the Gramophone companies. Columbia's 10s. shares, which at the beginning of the year were quoted at under £7 reached yesterday £13-10s.

The secretaries of the Gramophone and Columbia companies, however, deny they have ever heard of the suggestion of a fusion.

New York cables that officials of the Victor are "equally ignorant" but it is obvious that that Stock Exchanges give credence to the rumours.—Reuter.

A Chinese schoolboy named Yuen Sze, aged 12 years, living at No. 10, Sam To-lane, was yesterday admitted to the Government Civil Hospital suffering from the effects of several others who went bathing at Kennedy-town at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He went out of his bath and was nearly drowned. Friends went gallantly to his rescue and managed with difficulty to drag him to the beach. The police were then informed, and they had the boy removed to hospital.

A COMING FILM.

SPLENDID ARABIAN NIGHTS ROMANCE.

"THE LADY OF THE HAREM."

Produced by the man who filmed "The Thief of Bagdad," a new screen spectacle, "The Lady of the Harem," will be screened at the Queen's Theatre from Sunday to Tuesday next, according to a special advertisement in this issue. "The Lady of the Harem" has been adapted from the stage production, "Hassan," written by James Elroy Flecker, and no expense has been spared in making it a gorgeous film. The settings are on a lavish scale, and skilled directing has secured a very high artistic standard. Ernest Torrence and Greta Nissen share the honours, the former as Hassan, the happy-go-lucky confectioner and the latter as the beautiful Persian maid who is made an unwilling slave of the cruel sultan. K. Sojin, the Oriental actor who scored such a big success in "The Chinese Parrot," plays the part of the sultan, and others in the large supporting cast include Andre Beranger, Louise Fazenda, and Chester Conklin.

"SILK STOCKINGS."

SPLENDID COMEDY AT THE QUEEN'S.

In a laughable story dealing with the amusing experiences of a young married couple, Laura La Plante, the winsome blonde beauty, and John Harron, popular young star, are appearing at the Queen's Theatre for the last time to-day, in their latest picture "Silk Stockings."

Due to a splendid cast of notable people, including Otis Harlan, William Austin, Marcella Daly, and Hoinie Conklin, and the startling acts of the young husband who is continually in hot water, the reel is very interesting and entertaining.

The picture is ably directed by Wesley Ruggles, and has been adapted from a great stage success, this being sufficient proof of the good qualities of the story.

It is a picture that every lover of the cinema is well advised to see. There will be no movie performance at 5 p.m. as Miss Daisy O'Keefe and pupils are giving a dancing display, but the 2.30, 7.15 and 9.20 shows will be held as usual.

IN DEBATE.

UNIVERSITY MEN ON PHILIPPINES.

Berkeley, Cal., April 5.

The University of the Philippines debaters scored their second successive victory since the start of their American tour, defeating the University of California team here to-night in a debate on Philippine independence. The island team upheld the affirmative of the question.

The decision was rendered by the audience, which voted 294 to 117 in favour of the visiting team. Approximately 500 persons were in the audience, of whom about 300 were Filipinos.

The Filipino debaters scored on the points that the islands have a stable government, that they can maintain independence from an international standpoint and that independence is economically best for the islands.

The Californians argued that independence is unwise from the standpoint of religion, geography and language. They also contended that the Philippines are not able to maintain a stable government and that the economic development of the country does not warrant independence.—Associated Press.

BEGGARS' FEET.

WASHED BY SPANISH ROYALTY.

Madrid, April 5.

The King and Queen of Spain washed the feet of 18 men and 13 women beggars to-day at the annual Holy Thursday ceremony symbolizing Christian humility. Twelve of the men and three of the women were blind.

After the ceremony the mendicants were led to another apartment and were presented with new clothing, 30 pieces of silver and baskets of fruit and food. Leaving the palace, the beggars sold the baskets for good prices to the huge crowd outside.

The ceremony occurred in the presence of high functionaries, court and religious officials, a hundred Spanish aristocrats and many foreigners. Similar services were held in the palaces of every archbishop and bishop in Spain.—Associated Press.

region.On Friday night Captain Evers, who lives in Stubbs-road, reported to the police that his motor car,
No. 705 was stolen outside his house. The disappearance of the car has now turned out to be a practical joke played on Captain Evers. The identity of the joker has not been ascertained, but it appears that a local garage receiv-

was remanded by Mr. W. Schofield on a charge of unlawful possession of 20 taels of prepared non-Government opium, made another appearance at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. She was able to produce a friend who was willing to guarantee her future good behaviour, and the Magistrate accordingly bound the little offender over in the sum of $100 for 12 months.Among the passengers on the "President Madison" when she left Hong Kong yesterday were Mr. and
Mrs. S. C. and Miss F. Fertig,
American tourists who are bound for home; the Misses Myra, Esther and Pansy Chan of Hong Kong, on a trip to Shanghai; Mr. and Mrs.
C. F. Bowden, of London, travelling round the world, and bound for Japan; Mrs. V. and Miss Thelma Clumuck, of Singapore, returning to America.The case in which a Chinese woman who had $12.71 on her person refusing to pay a fine of $4 for hawking without a licence, was again mentioned before Mr. W.
Schofield at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. A Chinese female searcher gave evidence proving the finding of the money on the accused's person, after which, his Worship exercising his power under the Magistrate's Ordinance ordered the amount of the fine to be deducted from the money in the custody of the police.The absence of sickness among the troops dispatched to China has been remarkable. There have been no cases of cholera and only a few mild cases of enteric fever and bacillary dysentery, in spite of the presence of an extensive outbreak of cholera among the Chinese and the prevalence of dysentery in the native city of Shanghai.
Pneumonia was somewhat prevalent at Shanghai during the hot weather, but subsided with the advent of cooler weather. This low incidence is a testimony to the effectiveness of the measures adopted to safeguard the health of all concerned, says "The China Express & Telegraph."GREEN ISLAND CEMENT CO., LTD.*BEST PORTLAND CEMENT*SHEWAN, TOMES & CO.,

LAWN TENNIS.

ANNUAL TOURNAMENT AT H.K.C.C.

DOUBLE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Last year's final in the open doubles championship of the Hong Kong Cricket Club lawn tennis tournament was replayed yesterday with an entirely unexpected result.

S. A. Rumjahn and H. D. Rumjahn (holders) met T. Honda (ex-singles champion) and T. Akiyama, who lost to the Rumjahns cousins in the 1927 final. With the score at 5 games all in the last and deciding set, the match was stopped by Mr. R. E. Lindsell, the umpire, and will be replayed on Wednesday, April 11.

The stand crowd was in use for the first time this season and drew a large number of spectators.

Defence Pays. The Rumjahns were far below their best. S. A. Rumjahn (who won the singles championship last year) has not run into form at all. H. D. Rumjahn was not at his best but he was better than his cousin. Honda has not found form also but he improved as play progressed. Akiyama played to advantage, backing up his partner superbly.

Defence tactics paid. The Japanese lobbed often and after being behind in the first set, won 8-6. The holders won the first two games of the second set but lost the next five. From then on, the Rumjahns concentrated on careful play and took five games running to win the set (7-5) and make the score one set all. Honda and Akiyama won the third set 6-2, but the Rumjahns levelled up by taking the fourth at 6-1. Then came the exciting final set.

Light Fails. The Japanese were leading all the time. Light was failing fast and play might have been stopped earlier. It was almost dark when the Rumjahns won two games to make the score 5 games all.

With their excellent understanding, the Rumjahns were confidently expected to win yesterday. The "scare" is attributable to each of them not having found his best form yet this season. Honda showed flashes of his best but has done better in the past; and it was left to Akiyama to gather the honours of the encounter. The replay next week will be looked forward to.

Fincher v. Green. Very few spectators were present at an important and interesting match in the third round of the open singles championship. S. E. Green, a champion of the old days, was beaten in three straight sets by E. C. Fincher, a Kowloon C.C. representative who is now not far from championship status.

Except for occasional over-hitting and difficulty in getting over his first service, Fincher played a fine all-round game. He invited Green to attack him with powerful drives and retaliated with chops and cuts. Except for his very accurate placing, Green was not at his best. The match was interesting from start to finish and there were many fine rallies although both stayed mostly at the base line.

Yesterday's Results. Open Singles (3rd round):—E. C. Fincher beat S. E. Green 6-2, 7-5, 6-4. Open Doubles (3rd round):—S. A. Rumjahn and H. D. Rumjahn v. T. Honda and T. Akiyama 6-3, 7-5, 2-6, 6-1, 5-6; unfinished, to be replayed on April 11.

MARATHON.

ST. PETER'S CHURCH YOUNG MEN'S CLUB.

TO BE RUN ON APRIL 21.

Particulars of the first annual marathon race in Hong Kong, under the auspices of the St. Peter's Church Young Men's Club, to be run at 3 p.m. on April 21, are now available.

A sketch of the course can be seen in the shop window of the Blue Bird Co. and is as follows:—

Start at Lytleton-road (outside the hostel entrance of the University), along Lytleton-road, through Park-road, then wind up Robinson-road, along the new motor road to the end of Conduit Viaduct until Mr. Biggar's house has been reached; then along Pokfulum-road, down Dairy Farm Hill to point of Jubilee-road, along that road to Mount Davis-road, up Mount Davis-road to the point of Pokfulum-road, along that road, pass the University (the front entrance) along Bonham-road to King's College where the race ends.

Prizes have been presented as follows:—

Challenge cup to be won three years in succession, presented by Nestle & Anglo-Swiss Milk Co. Team shield to be won outright, presented by Nestle & Anglo-Swiss Milk Co.

First prize, a replica of the challenge cup, presented by Hong Kong Amusements, Ltd.

A cup for members of the club, presented by Mr. Andrew Cheung. Entries close on Friday, April 20, but competitors entering on the day of the race will not be turned down.

RUNNING CRACK.

PESSIMISTIC OVER OLYMPIC PROSPECTS.

New York.—America has "mighty little" chance of winning the 1,500 metres run in the 1928 Olympics from Paavo Nurmi and Edwin Wide, Scandinavian masters, in the opinion of Lloyd Hahn, who will "carry the hod" for the U.S.A. in that event.

The man who raced Wide here last winter in a thrilling mile struggle American counterpart of the 1,500 metre distance, is not a pessimist nor has he any lack of faith in the leg-power, endurance and canny racing judgment that carried him to victory over the Swedish school-master in a race that missed the world indoor mark of 4:12 by one one-fifth of a second.

"Training conditions," said Hahn, "are going to be all against us. Olympic arrangements will take the track athletes to Amsterdam on a 12-day boat and the loss of a day at either end will prolong the voyage two weeks. That is a serious break in training.

"There will be but ten days left for actual work after we get to Holland. That rules time for acclimation and they tell me the weather there is usually muggy because the land is so low.

"The best plan, it appears to me, would be to take the fastest possible boat across. Four or even five weeks should be allowed for training in England, where the climate is more like our own, the people speak our language, the customs are the same, and where there wouldn't be the confusion and excitement that is bound to attend the Olympics in Holland. Then we could jump right to Amsterdam before the games without bothering about acclimation.

"There doesn't seem to be much chance, either that Jack Ryder, who has coached me ever since I started running seriously, will make the trip. I can't coach myself very well and other coaches with the team won't know as well as Ryder what sort of work and how much I need."

The crack Nebraska, who carries the Boston Athletic Association colours, believes that his erstwhile rival Jole Ray has little chance of gaining Olympic fame this year to celebrate his comeback.

8-1 VICTORY.

PORTUGUESE TRIANGULAR INTERPORT.

SOCCER TOURNAMENT.

A. Gosano, the Recreio and Hong Kong Interport centre forward, scored four goals for Hong Kong against Macao yesterday in the Portuguese triangular interport soccer tournament and Hong Kong won by 8 goals to 1. This is the concluding match of the tournament proper and was played on the H.K.F.C. ground.

Hong Kong fielded the team that beat Shanghai. Macao made one change, L. da Silva replacing L. Melo in the defence. Team:—Hong Kong:—I. Fernandes; P. M. Xavier, S. Souza; C. F. Remedios, A. A. Remedios, E. Assumpcao, B. Gosano, J. M. Silva, A. Gosano, L. da Rocha (captain), A. Brown.

Macao:—Rosa; J. Couto, L. da Silva; J. Conceicao, Luis Badaracco, J. Rodrigues;—Vas. J. Lopes, Guerreiro, Colacao, R. Rosa.

Referee: Mr. Smith. Rocha scored twice for Hong Kong, Gosano the third and he also headed in the fourth—all in the first half. Rocha got his third in the second half, making Hong Kong five up. A. A. Remedios put on the sixth and Gosano scored the last two. Just on time, R. Rosa obtained Macao's solitary point.

Hong Kong beat Shanghai 4-1 on Sunday and Shanghai beat Macao 3-1 on Monday.

A combined Portuguese team will play two matches, details of which have been announced already.

ENDURANCE SWIM.

RECORD BROKEN IN A TANK.

Hamburg, To-day. Otto Kemmerich, the long distance swimmer, swam for 44 consecutive hours in a tank at a circus accompanied by a trained sea lion who gave up before his master. Kemmerich beat his own world record for duration by 14 hours.—Reuter.

A FAMILY TEAM.

ELEVEN CRICKETERS OF THE 'EIGHTIES.

The death of Mr. Malcolm Christopherson recalls one of the most interesting instances of family cricket teams on record. He was one of ten sons, and they and their father used to turn out together regularly for six years, from 1885 to 1890, to play the Blackheath Club.

The sequence was broken by the death of the elder brother, but it was resumed a year later, the family team numbering ten instead of eleven. After a time the brothers became too scattered to enable the team to be got together. The most famous of the brothers was Stanley Christopherson, a fast bowler, who played for Kent and for the Gentlemen against the Players in the 'eighties.

FASHIONS AND FANCIES

SMALL SHAPES CON TINUE TO RULE THE MODE.

But Innovations on Trimmings Lend a More Formal Aspect to the Close-Fitting Hats of Pronounced Chic. Many Versions Are Seen.

The small hat simply will not pass into oblivion. It is seen year after year in all its stages. It takes the ingenuity of the Paris milliner to change its outline, and, while adding tucks, bands and other trimmings, they manage to present a hat of different outline.

The simple, unadorned cloche that threatened to stay with us forever has, of course, been succeeded by hats of various outlines and appeals. Hats that are more graciously feminine have been made fashionable in their place. The small, close-fitting hat, of course, gives the maximum of comfort, and consequently it has been necessary to see that it also provides chic. The old foundation of the cloche remains, but its treatment is exceedingly different.

Most of the season's smartest shapes are designed to show the hair about the brow or temples. Few possess brims except in those of sports tendencies. The trimmings have been moved forward to cover either one or two ears.

Toques are much worn. In fact, the Paris move towards modern chic shows hats that have odd points over the eyebrow or ear. The knitted skull cap is new and very smart and is seen in various versions with great success. Flaps that give the effect of a Dutch cap are very new and in most cases interesting and becoming. Deep points cut above the eye give an odd outline to the skull caps of such great appeal. The jewelled pin often exaggerates the point cut above the eye in an exotic manner.

The halo effect—seen slightly last season—is again in vogue this winter. Softly draped effects are seen with the brim turned up in halo fashion to accentuate a modernistic note.

Berets are, of course, the novelty of the season. They are seen in all fabrics, in all shapes and in some instances lend great distinction, while in others they are exceedingly unbecoming.

The vagabond hat is seen in new versions, too, and is startlingly effective when worn with a youthfully chic air.

The draped hat, skillfully cut, knotted, tied or creased, is, of course, the hat for formal occasions and is seen in all materials, from the graceful velvets, silks, duvetyns and woollen fabric to the easily draped felts.

The Mis-En-Pile hat of Reboux is startlingly new and original and imparts chic wherever it is worn. The new versions of the treader's hat, too, is seen and is very effective when worn with the veils, which again threaten to take the town by storm.

Novelty and charm are imparted to all these new hats, and the most commonplace designs are given a new appearance by skilful variations of olden charm.

Hats pulled close to the ears continue smart. And, while brims are not essential to the new hat mode, they are seen in sports and semi-dress hats with effective results. In fact, there is always an allure to the hat that slightly veils the eye.

Boris Kenyon, bringing her charm and ability to wear clothes with expert effectiveness, wears several new and interesting hats in the First National film, "The Valley of the Giants." The hat pictured is an example of the new hat that possesses a brim slightly wider at both sides. Two quills, pointing downward at one side, give a trimming of individuality and chic.

DANCING FROCKS.

Must Be Chosen With Care.

Latest in Shoe Buckles

LOUISE LORRAINE, pretty Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, has enhanced the beauty of her trim ankles with novelty shoe buckles. Since she expressed her loyalty to the Chinese company by sporting the official M-G-M, other stars have adopted the same symbol. Needless to say some of these buckles are real works of art.

few days in the restaurants and other places where they dance, watching—you! "How can this be?" you think. "We—I am in London." But then,

I take it, that you either come to Paris, or, in London, do as Paris does, or else, you dream and scheme to do the things that are done, and wear the things that are worn, in this city of pleasure and of fashion.

So, watching here, the femininity of the world, I am watching you, since you are part of the world's femininity. Here then, you have my opinions about yourself, either as you are, or as you would wish to be.

Never before, has it been so forcibly borne upon me, just how much a certain bearing and perfect self-satisfaction, and unconsciousness, can get away with the most brazen styles of dress. Some that I've seen "dancing in a public room, and that, the most chic and aristocratic of all the hotel ballrooms of Paris, are truly alarming. There was, for instance, the woman in the golden sheath dress. To me, who is looking for all the latest whims of "La Mode," she was positively arresting, but no one else seemed to take any special notice of her. She might have passed for the beautiful study of a golden nude statue, so lightly was the heavy gold tissue wound round her body, every line of which was vividly shown. Her make up was Egyptian, pale yellow face and scarlet lips, very black eyebrows and eyelashes, and jet black hair cut short, in the Egyptian style, great long jade and gold earrings, an Egyptian stork wings symbol across her forehead.

She was a complete thing of beauty, and arrestingly astonishing until—and mind you in doing this, she was quite out of fashion. The Charleston being dead in Paris—until, she danced the Charleston! And then—then, it was a shocking sight. She was revolting, grotesque, unseemly.

Full-Skirted Tulle Frocks.

If only women, when they buy their evening dress, or their dancing frocks, would just stop to think, "Does this dress dance well?"

As dancing, with a big D is the only thing that anyone thinks of just now, let me implore you to be careful about getting good dancing frocks. Bright coloured, full-skirted tulle frocks, or even the robe-de-style, if it is not too long, does well. Be sure to be very careful too, about your undies. Wear little pink crepe-de-sine, rather full, knickers, and a little combination-jupon, with pretty brassieres. Nothing else can be worn, if you would have your frock set well.

Parisiennes have a beautiful excuse for going to see the dress-makers every other day just now. Because, although one may have chosen all the autumn clothes that one can afford to buy, there is always space for another chic accessory, and the cases in the dress-maker's salons are always irresistibly filled with the latest accessories on the market.

Belts begin with day-time frocks and sweater costumes, and end in the evening mode. The buckle may be modernistic, it may have ingenious fastenings, copied from details of harnesses, and even from dog leashes. A buckle may hold the folds of drapery at the side of a frock, it may finish the tailored belt that defines the slender line midway between the hips, and the waist. But whatever its practical purpose, the belt buckle is without question the focus to the frock—Germaine.

YESTERDAY'S SOLUTION.

NEW SPRING COATS.

Coats for spring days are slimming, and are characterised by numerous smart touches. Black is most fashionable, and many of the smartest models are made in satin and heavy crepe de Chine.

One model included in the spring fashions at Peter Robinson's, Oxford-circus, is in a rich black satin, sumptuously lined with black velvet. It is trimmed, as many of the most stylish coats are this year, with mink tails worked in a new way so that they look like a whole fur. Formerly women disliked mink tails because they "looked bitty." The most "dressy" coats are fur-trimmed, the other fashionable fur being lynx. This beautiful fur is rare and in great demand owing to its lightness and summery appearance.

Paris novelty flannels are used for smart, inexpensive, walking coats, many of which are lined with silk and have an adaptable scarf collar of the same silk.

"Lido blue," a brilliant true blue, is the fashionable shade in which many of the smartest frocks are shown. Many of the afternoon frocks in printed crepe de Chine are characterised by the higher waistline and new skirt.

A good selection of smart styles will be found in the inexpensive department for coats and gowns. A copy of the early spring fashions catalogue will be sent on application.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

LONDON DOCTOR BEFORE
POLICE MAGISTRATE.

WOMAN CO-DEFENDANT.

William Spencer Lewis, 56, medical practitioner, giving an address in Redcliffe-gardens, Kensington, and Beatrice Maxey, 41, a married woman, described on the charge sheet as living in Ruskin-mansions, Queen's Club-gardens, West Kensington, were charged before Mr. Marshall at West London Police-court with being concerned in an illegal operation on a single young woman, Elsie Ross, at a surgery in Little-road, Fulham, on March 5.

Chief Inspector Alfred Collins, of New Scotland Yard, said he followed Maxey and Miss Ross from Dr. Lewis's surgery in Little-road to a basement flat in Ruskin-mansions. After questioning Mrs. Maxey he took a signed statement from Miss Ross, and Mrs. Maxey then said, "What is all this fuss about? Surely you won't blame me for trying to do a good turn for someone?"

He went to a large fifteen-roomed house in Redcliffe-gardens, and saw Dr. Lewis, and cautioned him that Mrs. Maxey was detained, and that he had taken a statement from Miss Ross. The doctor said he had treated the girl for general ill-health. He had known Mrs. Maxey for a number of years. Asked to show books recording the names and addresses of patients and payment, he said he did not keep any records of patients who paid cash. They handed the money to his dispenser and she banked it. She banked for the whole of his three surgeries.

The magistrate granted a remand, offering to accept two sureties in £250 each for Dr. Lewis, and two sureties of £50 for Mrs. Maxey.

DEWEY VETERAN DIES TWO DAYS AFTER PENSION.

New York, April 3.

Harman Hunter, who was a seaman on Admiral Dewey's flagship in which Spanish-American war, went without a pension for 30 years because he did not know he was entitled to one. Two days after he finally received his first payment, he died.

Only recently did Hunter, an inmate of the Staten Island City farm colony, learn from a comrade that he might have been enjoying pension all these years. Application was made and the first allotment of $20 was paid him on a Friday, and Hunter died the following Sunday. He was 68 years old.—Associated Press.

NEWS VALUES.

PUBLIC SHOWS APPROVAL
IN TEST.

PLAYING DOWN CRIME.

Helena, Mont.—To demonstrate that a daily newspaper can be made interesting without "playing up" news of crime and horrors on its front page, the Rev. H. Crowley-Carroll, rector of an Episcopal church, has been conducting a notable experiment in practical journalism as editor-for-a-week of the Livingstone Enterprise, published in central Montana.

The editor, L. E. Flint, remained at his home during the experiment, under an agreement which gave the rector full power to determine what news should be featured.

Not once during the week did an item concerning crime find its way into the first page of the Enterprise. On page five, however, briefs of the sensational stories played up on the first pages of competing papers were found under small one-column headings.

No Lack of News.

No lack of interesting news appeared on the Enterprise's first page. Such stories as that on universal Japanese suffrage, the Pan-American Congress, the trial of Burns and Sinclair, prohibition news, exploits of Lindbergh, opening of the Moffat Tunnel and political news were given the prominent places.

An editorial on "news sense" deplored the practice of playing up the revolting details of crime. Several editorials were written arguing that editors should not be bound to the theory that crime news is what the people want because it is sensational, but that the editor should give the people what is good. The editor should lead rather than follow his public, the Rev. Crowley-Carroll contended.

A column of "Brickbats and Bouquets" was conducted where readers commented on the experiment. Farmers wrote in appreciation of a paper where news of their craft was not limited to bankruptcies and mortgage foreclosures. Women wrote in appreciation of a paper which did not teach their children crime and scandal.

Publicity for the Good.

"The farmer is all right, give them and the good people more publicity and the outlaw less," wrote another.

The clergyman-editor, in turning the paper back to its proprietor, wrote concerning his administration as follows: "In one particular only have we departed from the general methods of the paper and we claim to have demonstrated the theory which gave rise to the challenge of our friend 'Editor-in-Chief' and that has been by the removal from the front page of all

A WANDERER.

RUSSIAN'S REMARKABLE
ADVENTURES.

ALIEN IN ENGLAND.

During the hearing of a case against an alien, Kevs Berg, in the Glasgow Sheriff Court, it was stated that he had been deported from Britain, Russia, and Finland, and, while in Russia, had been sentenced to death. He admitted a number of contraventions of the Aliens Order.

Mr. Paton Jones, solicitor, who appeared for him, stated that he was born in Siberia, came to England when he was 3 years of age, and was educated in London. In 1918 he was deported to Russia. He served with the White Army, and was captured and imprisoned for twenty months, spending that period in Siberia. Later, he was sent back to Russia, and then landed in Finland, whence he was deported and arrived back in Moscow. He was arrested with various other persons when the Soviet Government declared martial law, and was put into an underground cell.

His next experience was a sentence of death, and, later, this sentence was altered to imprisonment. After serving just over a year in prison he was put under an escort of four men with fixed bayonets, and had to sign a note to the effect that he was being exiled from Russia. After further experiences, he reached Constantinople where, with a number of Russia refugees, he boarded a steamer for Marseilles. He remained in France two years, and then went to Antwerp and South Africa, returning to Glasgow. It was his intention to get to New York, where he had a brother. His sympathies were British, and not Russian. He could not speak the Russian language.

Mr. James Adair, Depute Fiscal, said a deportation order had already been pronounced against Berg, who had stated on different occasions, that he had been born in Finland, America, Afghanistan, Russia, and Britain. He joined the British Army in 1914, but was discharged as an undesirable. His associations in foreign countries were always anti-British.

Sheriff Wilton passed a sentence of four months' imprisonment with hard labour.

crimes of horror and violence, no matter how engrossing.

"We have suppressed no crime stories which came over the wire. All were printed for which there was room; but we relegated them to the subordinate position among the news of the day which we considered they merited."
